COURAGEOUS EXPLOIT OF SUBMARINE E-7
Leaves Trail of Ruined Shipping During Twenty-Four Days' Cruise in Sea of Marmora.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The story of how the British submarine E-7 entered the Sea of Marmora and operated for twenty-four days sank twenty-three ships, shelled two railway trains, and did other damage, is told in a letter received in New York yesterday. The letter was written by a young officer who was on the E-7. The Cochran, who is referred to as "absolutely splendid," is the commander of the E-7. He says:

"We returned safely after twenty-four days on the surface in the Sea of Marmora. It is hopeless to try to give a detailed account in a letter, but you can take it from me it was a fine show. We broke all previous records. Cochran was absolutely splendid. The tale of our doings is the sort of thing one reads of in the old days. We went around the Sea of Marmora, leaving a trail of sunk and burning ships. We fairly shook things to the core.

"We are the first submarine in history to bombard a place on shore under fire. I think we were under fire about three times a day on an average, and penetrated into all sorts of places and destroyed shipping. We even shelled a railway and destroyed two troop trains. We shelled the embankment and blocked the line and then caught the trains as they came along. It was the funniest thing you can imagine to see the trains try to hide behind trees, but we caught them and smashed them all to blazes. The ammunition all blew up with a terrific explosion. The soldiers, of course, got out and took cover and fired tons of ammunition at us, but we were out of range.

"Altogether we sunk one gunboat, five steamers (one of 3,000 tons), and seventeen large sailing ships, and hit two trains, one railway embankment, and a few villages who tried on #2 and got it in the neck for doing so. We also dived up to Constantinople and fired a torpedo at the wharf at the arsenal, where there were a lot of ammunition lighters, and there was most terrible explosion, which shook the boat, although we were one and one-quarter miles away. What happened I don't know, but something must have got it in the neck, judging by the bang. We had a small duel with a small gunboat one day on the surface and drove her off, although she fired 200 rounds from her two guns. After that we were left alone and everything ran like blazes when we got anywhere near.

"The only drawback was that we all had dysentery, and Halifax, the second officer, and a seaman got badly burned setting fire to a steamer, so Cochran and I had to keep watch all the time, and by the time twenty-four days were gone we were absolutely done up. What Halifax went through with his burned face for three weeks below I don't know.

"We had no trouble in diving in the Sea of Marmora, but when we came down we had an awful time, as the Turks had rigged up all sorts of nets and things to catch us, and we got mired up in them and also were fouled by mines three times.

"The reception we got in the harbor was great. The whole fleet and everything manned the rails and cheered us madly. Just imagine us—all dirty and unshaven, and the flag with bullet holes all over it, and coming toward all sorts of boats and rusty-looking steamships, torpedoes, transports, and the captains leading the cheers. 'It was great!' I have heard cheers before, but this was the real thing. Poor old Cochran's eyes were full of tears as he saluted to the cries of 'Are we down-hearted?' and 'Well done, E-7!'

"At present I am resting on land and basking in the light of popular favor. It is very nice to be a hero among one's own cloth, you know, because they really mean it, and they really understand."

FALSE FRIEND ADDS MURDER, PERHAPS SUICIDE, TO CRIME
Kills Repentant Wife After She Escapes His Influence and Then Shoots Himself.

CHICAGO, March 19.—This is the story of a woman, still young and comely, mother of four small children.

"My baby had infantile eczema. She was taken when she was two weeks old and she turned red all over; first on her mouth and eyes and in less than twenty-four hours she was blisters all over. The blisters would break and the skin came off and she cried day and night. She couldn't have any clothes on her at all for over two weeks, she was just burning up. Her hair all fell out and she was badly disfigured. I thought she would die.

"A friend told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using them two weeks she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Garrett, Ansonia, Conn., Aug. 22, 1915.

whose husband was in a hospital and who was led astray by a "benevolent friend"—led only because poverty was tugging at the latchstring of the little home and four little mouths cried for food.

Cecelia Czakos was the woman and William Justatius was the man. When matters looked darkest for her and her family Justatius appeared on the scene. He was sorely pained to hear that her husband was ill and that there was no money in the house. At his urgent solicitation the woman accepted a small temporary loan. Then, also at his suggestion, he came to room in the house, thus giving her a small sum weekly. The young mother was happy, as she obtained a position washing cars for the Pullman Company at $7 a week.

Justatius was the ideal "friend." He took the children to the "movies," brought home many articles of food and soon the inevitable happened.

Then the wife went to the hospital and confessed to her husband. He stroked her hair and forgave her. A week ago he was discharged as partially cured and he and his wife moved to another part of the city. Meanwhile she had told Justatius that her relations with him were ended for all time. He tried to kill her at the time, but she escaped. Yesterday, as she was on her way to work, he intercepted her, shot her through the heart, and shot himself through the head and will die.

Many persons on the elevated structure saw the tragedy. As the woman fell Justatius shot himself in the temple. After he had fallen he struggled to his knees and fired three more shots at the body of the woman, all of which went wild. When the police took her body back to the little attic they found the convalescent husband washing and dressing the children, and from him the story of the fatal triangle was obtained.

SUFFRAGE RESOLUTION UP ON FEBRUARY 28

Congressional Committee Gives Carlin Credit for Earlier Date for Consideration.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The congressional committee of the National Woman's Suffrage Association has given Representative Carlin, of Virginia, credit for the action of the House Judiciary Committee in fixing February 28, instead of December 14, as the date for the consideration of the suffrage resolution.

In this connection the Suffrage Association has given out the following statement:

"Mr. Carlin, of Virginia, was instrumental in securing the action by which a committee vote will be had on the suffrage measure the 28th of this month, instead of December 14, the date set for consideration by the Judiciary Committee at a former meeting. Although Mr. Carlin voted earlier in the session for the postponement to December 14, he now states that he had been persuaded by representatives of the national association to favor the earlier date.

"I have no desire to smother consideration of the question in committee," Mr. Carlin is quoted as saying by the suffrage advocates, "and for this reason I agreed to the request of the national association and did what I could to secure the action that was finally taken by the Judiciary Committee."

CONFINED TO WHEEL CHAIR BY RHEUMATISM---NOW WALKS

Helpless for Years, Woman Tells How Simple Remedy Removed Pain and Stiffness From Joints.

"I wish others suffering from rheumatism could share my joy and know what freedom from pain and stiffness means. I wish I could meet and talk to every man and woman suffering from rheumatism of the joints, and tell them how I recovered after being confined overhead. I am now walking about without the aid of cane or crutch. I suffered from rheumatism of the joints for years. My feet were sore, painful and stiff, my knees were stiff, and the least move would make me cry out from the pain. My hands, fingers and wrists were swollen from a chalky deposit, and so stiff that I was unable to move them.

Physicians wanted to operate on me and try to remove the deposit. My legs were drawn up so that they could not be straightened, and to have any one lift me from the bed was agony unbearable. For one year I did not leave the bed without assistance. How brave the help of my friends, and how helpless I was and what I suffered only God and myself knows," said Mrs. J. W. Cheney, Moosup, Conn.

"The rector of St. Alban's Church, in Danvers, knows my condition, for he called on me while I was confined to bed for the purpose of giving me communion. When I started on Var-ne-sis I was in bed continually getting worse and for almost a year I did not see very much improvement, except that my stomach was better and my strength began to return.

"There is hardly a person in this section who does not know about my condition, and I am glad you called, for it may be the means of helping other sufferers. In fact, I am always glad to hear from any rheumatic sufferer and to let them know how I regained my health. My address is P. O. Box 134, Moosup, Conn. I have loaned my wheel chair, crutches, pulley and shoes to Var-ne-sis to add to the collection in Boston."

Hundreds of rheumatic sufferers have recovered their health through Var-ne-sis after ordinary remedies had failed. Var-ne-sis does not contain salicylates, iodides, Colchicum or the usual drugs so often given, but is composed of roots, herbs and barks. No rheumatic can afford to ignore Var-ne-sis.
